HIGHEST PRIZE 10,000 DOLLARS.

HALF TICKETS $1 QUARTER 50 CENT

		•
		SCHEME:
1	prize of	10,000	is	10,000
1	of	2,000	16	200
1	of	1,000	is
1	of	600	is	1,669
1	υſ	-:00	İA	600
1	. 01	500	ie	- 400
- 1	of	200	is	3(1)
5	6 f	100	is	29J
10	· t	50	is	500
20	of	20	is	4.0
50	e ť	10	İs	5.0
500	of	3	is	60
0,000	of	$1,50	is	15.000
	-

CLARK'S OFFICE, Barrinone, July 29, 1831.

10,292 Prizes

ON WEDNESDAY, August 31, will to drawn in Battimore, MARYLAND STATE LOTTERY-No. 6, for 1831.

ODD AND EVEN. HIGHEST PRIZE, 10,000 DOLLARS.

SCHEME:

ı	prize of $10.000		816
}	5000	10	5
ı	1000	20	2
1	€00	50	1
1	400	200
1	$00	10,000	1.5
1	200

Half Tickets only one dollar- Quarters 50 ch To be had at

CLARK'S

Offices, N. W. conner of Battimore and Calvert, N. W. conner of Battimore and Cares, N. E. corner of Battimore and Cares

". Orders either by mail (post paid) or fre va'e conveyance, enclosing the cash or prizes, will meet the same prompt and punctual attenion as if on presonal application. Address to JOHN CKARK, Lottery Vender, Balt. August, 11.

NOTICE.

THE Commissioners of Anne Arundel Courty will meet at the Court House, in the City of Annapolis, on Tuesday the 25th divel October next, for the purpose of learing appeals, and making transfers, and transacting the ordinary business of the Levy Court.

By order,
SHROD W. MARRIOTT, Ch.

WANTED.

A SITUATION as a Teacher, by one who can give satisfactory references regarding character and qualifications, to act either as an Buglish or Classical Instructor.

A line addressed to the P. M. West River will receive upt attention.

COLLECTOR'S SALE. VILL be sold at public sale to the highest bulder for case, on the Farm belonging o the hairs of Henders in Magruder, on Salunlay he 10th day of September next, at 11 o'clock ord Word standing, as the case may require, to estisfy County Charges due for the ear 1529. Attendance by ABNER LINTHICUM, Jan.

Late Collector A. A. Coanty.

10

11

12ATA OF STABYBAYD, 03.

Anne-Arundel Courty, Orphana Court, Aug. 10th, 1831. ON application by petition of Ahner Lin-thicum, Sen. Adm'r of Elijan Yealdhall late of Anne-Arundel county, deseased, it is ordered that he give the notice required by law for creditors to exhibit their claims against said deceased, and that the same be published once in each week, for the space of six successive weeks, in one of the newspapers printed in the city of Annapolis.

THOMAS T. SIMMONS, Reg. Wills A. A. Coupty.

grand to have acceed to THAI the subscriber of Anne-Arandel county, hath obtained from the orphans courtlef Anne-Arandel county, in Maryland, letters of Administration on the personal ef tate of Elijah Yealdhall late of Anne-Arundet equinty, deceased. All persons having claims against the said deceased, are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at or before the 10th day of February next, they may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefit of the said estalla Given under my hand this 10th day of August

MARNER LANTHICUM Sen. Admir 6

BAGS! BAGS! BAGS! CASH will be given for clean Lines and Cotton Region this Office and the

F Jam. 6, 4831; excels and soor of her code int

Daryland Garette.

ANNAPOLIS, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1831.

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY JONAS GREEN. Church-Street, Annapolis.

TOL. LXXXVI.

THREE DOLLARS PER ANNUM.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SIEAL THOU NOT MY FAITH AWAY. By Charles Gilborne Lyons. By Charles Gilberns Lyons, we seed not thou my faith a way, we tend to doubt the trusting mind, and that earth can yield decay, at leave this heavenly gift behind,—rile is but a meteor gleam, but no and surrounding gloom,—they thun, a fifth heart, quescend in the coid and silent touch.

yer if, as holy men have said, there he beyond that dreamy hourne some region where the faithful dead Tee birming wild, the black abyes,— typick not from the path of pain, which endeth in a Sould like this.

which endeturing Keild the this, notified first that nerves us listed, went greef assails and sorrow strights and one of the standows sphere of most's weak instantogs.

If we, though cherished long and dee; a be cold and baseless macketness, the welcome that eternal sheep;
Which knoweth not of dreams like these.

Which knoweth not of dreams like these, systimals thou troubled heard he sun; Resonce thy wain philosophy.—
Like meaning on the misty hill, the hold of train will break on thee, to make the product's deathless page—time-question thou the radiant sky, and lean from them, mistaken sake!
Like glorious words—" Flow shall not die!"

From the New York Mirror. EGREAT MEDICINE: OR THE MA-GIC WHISKERS.

THE STYLE OF MODERN BOOKS OR TRAVELS. constridement of eight octave manareript volumes.

Young Hyacinth Primrose was early in life ten with the mania for locomotion. as he was his own master he commenhis travels, and in the course of seven repoked his nose into divers unknown atries with hard names, and inhabited by ople of hard characters. He visited the ack sea, the White sea, and the Red sea; visited the sataracts of the Nile, the Pyrads, the Spinux, and the Catacomba. From eace he took an excursion to Palestine, are he saw Mount Tabor, the lake Tibertthe rains of Tyre; had a long talk with it Hester Stanhope, and was not half so orised at any thing, in the whole course s travels, as at not finding a single Jew

After this he perambulated almost ail Euthe saw every thing that every traveller had been for a thousand years past, and was just on the point of invading old Africa, for the purpose of visiting the famous city of Timbuctous in ascertaining the course of the Niger, when accurred to how he might die hefure he out occurred to him he might die before he got bere; whereupon, considering that there were mare old worlds to conquer, he stopped port in his career, and sojourned awhile at tecity of the restaurateurs.

Walle there, the Savans bored him about sown country, and especially about the A-Europe are exceedingly curiou. Hyacinth ad passed so much of his time in acquiring a knowledge of other contries, that he knew tale or nothing of his own. Having displayelhis ignorance one evening, in a very de-case manner, a learned and distinguished all philosopher was overheard to say, "Monneur, if you wish to acquire information of sher people, you should bring a little with ya by way of exchange;" whereupon friend discinth beat a retreat, and returned to the new world, with a prodigious outfit of whis-

He determined to qualify himself for the the determined to quantify a competent thousand of Europe, by acquiring a competent thousands of matters of which they were ignorant. But how to do this was the question. "Boke can teach me nothing but what these follows know, for they read every thing; and asto travelling, every part of this Continent has been explored. There is no terra incog-

He thought of the sources of the Mississiprathad just been there, and published a book. Nexthe proposed to explore the country beyond Lake Superior, but Captain Frankbeen beforehand with him. Then he a had been beforehand with him. Then he would be the wast regions about the Missouri, the Yellow Stone, the Platte, and the Arand Clarke, and Major Long had anticipated him. He was almost ready to weep, like amother Alexander, when the thought struck him that him that no one had ever yet explored the recesses of the Rocky Mountains, and he determined to set about it immediately. "It must be a glorious place for wonders," queth be; and if not so, I can make as may wonders as I please, for there will be nody to contratict me." Indiana, some confect to refresh himself, and divers other little stairs too tedious to menavery other little affairs too tedious to men-tion. At 8f. Loois hamet a party of traders, yoing up the Missouri, at far as Council wild, that it was impossible to come within Blats, who agreed to take him with them.—

Frenchman, half Indian, or, to say truth, rather more of an Indian than a Frenchman, or reactly with the Parisian accept; and as to i exactly with the Parisian acceut; and as to his lunglish, it was mixed with a strange variety of classical Indianisms. He was as thin as a reed, of a dark, westner-beaten complexion, long, tank, raven hair, and a face as smooth as the palm of my hand. He had externing the parising of classical indianisms. He was as thin as a more and by the roots, in complexion, long, tank, raven hair, and a face as smooth as the palm of my hand. He had externing the parising of the parising of the following board by the roots, in compliance to a fine quanticman. There could not have been follow in all the world a great. He took a piece of arry cotton-wood, and have been follow in all the world a great with sactice in whole fice looked as it, little distance has whole fice looked as it, little distance has whole fice looked as it, little distance has whole fice looked as it, little distance has whole fice looked as it, little distance has whole fice looked as it, little distance has whole fice looked as it, little distance has whole fice looked as it, little distance has whole fice looked as it, little distance has whole fice looked as it, little distance has whole fice looked as it, little distance has whole fice looked as it is the first phonotory by crown.

He took a piece of the read with a strange with him to do it in his own was. In the first phonotory in the first phonotory is make the print him to do it in his own was in his whiskers, looked to the first him to do it in his own was an entity by the first phonotory in the ges, about hunting grizzly pears, and such other rural recreations. Re was indeed the appearing to take any notice of his approach.

which they ail scampered away like the wind; not, however, without now and then turning round to long at his whiskers!

Diable!" said Pierre, lazhing, "I be-

Is in many places, where, like some of the streams of Africa, it is absorbed by the quick ands and disappears. Phere was running about among the stunted cutton trees, in search of game, and Hyacitch took into me had to cross over on the other side of time disappears. But the other side of the rise. But the other side of time disappears are strongly in the other side of the disappears. The property of the property of the other side of the disappears are side of the disappears. The property of the disappears are strongly in the other side of the disappears are side of the disappears. The property of the disappears are side of the disappears. The property of the disappears are side of the disappears. The property of the disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears. The disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears. The disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears. The disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears. The disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears. The disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears. The disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears. The disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears. The disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears are disappears.

bled away out of the quicksands as fast as he was able, I suppose to call his friends to the assistance of Mr. Hyacinth Primrose.

By St. Gallinipper," quoth Pierre, but my master has certainly got something about o, to keep off all the wild beasts. find out what it is."

But first he thought of getting the poor gen tleman out of the quicksand. After a mo-ment's reflection, he bethought himself of one of those slipping nooses used by the Indians to catch the wild horses of the prairies; and getting as near as he could, without sinking into the sands himself, he threw it with such dexterity that the noise went right over his head. He then pulled him out of the sand as softly as possible, for fear of choking him, which he certainly would have done had it not been for the vast tuft of hair he carried about his muzzle and under his chin, which prevented the rope from even chafing his skin.

orevented the rope from even chafing his skin.

"What a fool I was," quoth Pierre Fuzee,

"to pull out my beard by the roots. There is no medicine, not even a rifle that never misses, equal to such a suit of whiskers."

Boon after they came to a prairie dog village, and being very hungry, having met with no game for the last three days, they were in hones to be able to procure one of these lit-

Prom Council Blum they proceeded up the Platte river, till they came to the Loup Fork, where the party separated: the traders going to the Pawnee villages on that stream to barter for furs; and Hyacinth with his companion, interpreter, and guide, all in one person, proceeding up the main stream towards the Rocky mountains. The guide was half Rocky mountains. The guide was half receipman, half Indian, or, to say truth, raacquaintance with this new species of puppy, that Pierre, who could not sleep sound for hunger, took the opportunity of seizing a couple of them by the legs, and converting them to his own use and behoof; in other words, ry a mul stop short the mount Hydrian turned towards him, souse, me had, as if he had made a mistake, then advance up to him, and the advance up to him, and rub against his side, as if he had been for all the world just, he a fellow creature. Lang the ter, and her mother, now dead, was a Spanish woman of Santa Fe. The great Tobacco bag took Hyacinth to his lodge and gave him a little short pipe to smoke. He was one of the gravest Indians in all the Rocky Mountains, but he could not help laughing to see the smoke coming out of his whiskers, like a little prairie just getting on fire. This band was at war with its neighbours, as is customary with this amiable. interesting race, and soon after set out on an expedition against a tribe, the chief of which had pronounced the Tobacco-bag to be an old Hyacinth was complimented with the privilege of going along with them, accompanied by Pierre, and the Little Otter begged him very tenderly to take care of his whiskers. In two days the Tobacco-big came up with the enemy, who made a stout resistance, until our hero advanced, whereupon they all ran away as fast as their legs would carry them!

From this time the renowned Tobacco-bag meditated a plan for accuring the great Medicine, by marrying his only daughter, the Little Otter, to our hero, and adopting him into the tribe. While he was vavering on this point, and aumaing up the pros and cons. the Little Otter, and indeed all the women of the tribe, dul nothing but admire the great medicine. Pierre Fuzee, by putting odds and ends together, and recollecting the incidents cine. Pierre Fuzee, by putting odds and ends together, and recollecting the incidents of the bear, the Prairie-dog, the buffalo, &c. had made it out entirely to his satisfaction, that all the virtue of the great uncidents master carried about him was in his whiskers, master carried about him was in his whiskers. This idea he committee and to the ladies, and This idea he committee as to get possessions at the restriction of the property of the property in the property of the fine little Otter, who had seeme very find of him, and could hardle bear to be out of his signt, one day looked over his shoulder, and saw the reductions of the whiskers ges, about hanting grazely bears, and such the training grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears, with was his surprise at seeing the first such as grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears grazely bears grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears grazely bears, and such that ring grazely bears grazely bears, and such t all the ereams, and decide on all hero.

out his book, and we been maked to award the same of the streams of Africa, it is absorbed by the quick sands and dissippears. Perce was raining that among the studied cutton trees, in nearth of game, and flygratial took into me well of the river. Before he and gaze to the early of the river. Before he and gaze to the disposance was. He called for help—it was unty time to call, for in addition to the quick samis, through which the responsible same, there was a greatform exceed a marked by a disposance of the constitution fortunate gentleman, whom he mistook, probably, for one of his fellow creatures; and after kissing and hugging all he could see of him, which indeed was nothing but his head and face, shook his wise noddle, as much as to one of his wise noddle, as much as to of this course, it is allover with my brother, and scrambled noway out of the quicksands as fast as of this princes was Nikik no the Little (1). at the d—i, before they should touch a hair of his beard. Nor was the horror of Pierre Fuzce a whit inferior to the rage of his master. He muttered an olla podrila of imprecious, haif French, half Spanish, half Enterted himself with demanding the three fugiwould have made the very heards of a forest of live oak stand on end, had they, peradventure, heard him. He held the whiskers of our hero to be the greatest medicine in the world, hero to be the greatest medicine in the world, and like a faithful retainer, took no little share of their honours and dignity to himself. He did not fail to blacken his muzzle every morning with burnt wood; but the Indians easily distinguished between this paltry imitation and the original whiskers of his illustrious na-tor. The expostulations of Hyacinth and his faithful squire were vain. They might have swore till the Rocky Mountains echoed with their swearing-the old women were determined to get possession of a few hairs of the great medicine, but how to disforest the phiz of our hero was the question. Such was the awe of the possessor of the mighty whiskers that the stoutest warriors shrunk from com mitting the sacrilege of even touching them without his consent.—They sent the Little Otter, like another Dellish, to cheat our hero day, and his whiskers from that moment held in profound veneration, as the greatest medicine ever known in the Rocky Mountains. They sent the Little and the supernatural powers; out of his beard and his supernatural powers; out of his beard and his supernatural powers; out of his beard and his supernatural powers; out of his beard and his supernatural powers; out of his beard and his supernatural powers; out of his beard and his supernatural powers; out of his beard and his supernatural powers; with a princess for a bride, his stablish remains that that little traitoress did nothing but tick but tha lit was dark, the Little Ofter stole from nec-lair, and joined them. They lost not a mo-ment, all things being previously prepared in departing with all speed towards the sources of the Pla te, which they reached on the that stream were at length fortunate course to meet the very party of traders which had ac-compained our hero as far as the Loga Fore.

In the meantime the seven days had expired, and every soul of the tribe was so comed, and every soul of the tribe was so com-pletely absorbed in the subject of the great medicine, that nobody missed the Little Ot-ter; or if they did, nobody thought of inquir-ing after her. At length the eighth day ar-rived, and it was midnight. The whole tribe, with the ald women at their head, mocceded rived, and it was midnight. The whole tribe, with the old women at their head, proceeded to the solitary lodge, and knocked at the door, with fear and trembling. No one answered. They knocked again and still no answer. At length the Tobacco-bag began to be somewhat impatient, and the old ladies mighty curious. ry of this wonderful dittle After trying a third knock in vain, they prot cool so many faces, added to ceeded, in fear and silence, to remove the of mose simple people for our simple fastenings. All within was dark as simple fastenings. All within was dark as pitch, and since son. But of mission and successor. But of six in the old women, who are the six in the old women, who are the six in the old women, who are the six in the old women, all there in lieu of the valuable whiskers of our the recease in all decide on all here. The great medicine!" exclaimed the "The great medicine!" exclaimed the great Tobacco-bag, in triumph; and "the great inedicine!" should they all tegether.

Anxious to divide the treasure, and to thank glich, and half Indian—for it took four halves to make up such a diabolical whole—that of our hero and the great medicine. A thought shrewd old backwoodsman who knew the Indian character perfectly. He entered forth-with into a negotiation with the Tobacco-bag. who agreed, after consulting with that if the Ouskinckissi Minichick would comply with his agreement, and Beve stow upon them the great medicine, he might go where he pleased, and marry his daughter the Little Otter.

Sore was the dilemma, and terrible the conflict of doubts in the bosom of Hyacinth Primrose. To lose his whiskers which he Primrose. To lose his whisters with the had been cultivating with such parental care, whose young ideas he had taught to shoot whose young ideas he had taught to shoot the delight of his soul and the ornament of the delight of his soul and the had it was imposhis existence! It was too bad-it was impos sible-better lose his lite-better lose his wife-better be nothing than an unwhiskered man. But when he turned to the Little Otter, and sawher dear eyes awimming in tears, and thought what a kind friendrand mistres